ANNEXATION OF TEXAS.

The ktter-of-Dr. Channing on the subject of the admission of Texas to the Union is highly speken of, as one of the very best productions of this gifted writer: --- - - - - -

We have not seen the pamphlet, but doubt not it is worthy the praise bestoned. The Doctorwill be found a strong man among the opponents of the wild and wicked scheme of admit- election. ting-Texas, with the curse of slavery, so fixed upon her as to be beyond the reach of government, into our Union. What can we want of Texas? Have we not now more territory than in the same place. we want, and as many people as we want, unless they are of botter general character than the people of Texas? We are decidedly against an linuses to of territory in any direction. If what full dissoult enough to manage. A govern--ment must be almost perfect that can extend its such a country, extended as it is over a territory thousands of miles in extent. The diversity of soil and climate, and the difference of situation, necessarily results in conflicting interests, and as we have already had experience of the damer toob, apprehended to our Union-when these interests are made subject of contention, it be comes us; as much as possible, to lessen, who exerted himself by his speech and his vale there they increase this diversity of interest: to allay, rather than excite, local feeling, and by all means, be sure we do not invite dissension by aune sing additional territory and a disnollis population.

In 1806 Mr. Exene soon discovered an important change which had recently been made it his friend's distribution of his time Pregions. it had been his custom whenever professions the diques of special angagements occupied the middle part of his day, to sieze some hours for study after he was supposed to have retired to bed. His physician surveyed that this was very likely to aggravate his nervous headaches, the only malady he was subject to in the prince of his manhood; and, contemplating with steadv eve a course not only of unremitting, but of increasing industry, he resolved to reverse his plan and carried his purpose into execution with unflinching energy. In short, he had now adopted the habits, in which, with slender variation, he ever after persevered when in-the country. He ten-ders his sincere thanks to the public for their interal patronage tast ventus the Finnklin House, and so wits the continuation of it in his present situation, oledging himself to attend personally to the wants of hose who may call on him, and employing none out good and taithful servants. He will endeavor to make his house equal to any in this city. The New England House is much larger than the Franklin House, which enables him to accommodate a much larger company than he could in his former situation. There's a stable attached to the House, furnished with the best of hay and grain. Ostlers equal to any in the State. Also Horses and Carriages of all de scriptions, for the accommodation of those who may wish to hire. A Carriage will always be in readiness to take passengers to and from the boat. N. B. Seats will be secured in all the lines of stagestearing this very MA D. GLOVER. Bangor, June 24, 1836.. tf
